4. DELEGATIONS AND PRESENTATIONS

4.1 BC Stone Sand and Gravel Association

A presentation was given by Tyson Craiggs, President of the Board of Directors of the B.C. Stone and Gravel Association and Dani Miller, Safety & Technical Compliance Manager with Mainland providing an update on the B.C. Stone and Gravel Association's activities, opportunities and challenges. Additional points discussed were:

- Gravel pits are temporary and usually exhausted within 25 years; and
- Many reclamation areas have developed important infrastructure in communities like schools, tracks, parks and blueberry fields.

Discussions ensued about the relationship between the FVRD and the aggregate industry, and it was noted that the new bylaw addresses many of the issues that led to past conflicts and that issues still arise in the community when changes are made to permits by the Province. Challenges such as truck parking and the deterioration of infrastructure in the Fraser Valley with increased truck traffic still remain. Stage reclamation and local water sheds should be considered for new pits before approving multiple pits in a community.

Staff will be bringing forward information in September regarding outstanding industry issues in the electoral areas which still need to be formalized.

4.2 Maria Martin

Maria Martin discussed an aggressive dog incident that took place on her property that resulted in the death of her dog. Ms. Martin requested that the Board consider an increase in aggressive dog fines and issue fines when an aggressive incident occurs that results in the death of another dog or animal. Ms. Martin asked the Board to consider amending the Animal Control Bylaw to approve larger fines to hold dog owner's responsible.
